

CITADEL MUST GIVE UP NOW

Japanese Troops Occupy Commanding Positions on Hills About Port Arthur.

MIGHT HOLD OUT A MONTH STILL

Russians Can Occupy Commanding Positions on Hills About the Doomed City, But Must Yield Very Shortly.

(Special by Scripps-McLain.)

London, Nov. 4.—All the available information of the latest fighting indicates that, while the Japanese failed to capture Port Arthur and present the fortress to the mikado yesterday for a birthday gift, the Russian Gibraltar in the Orient is doomed to fall very soon. By terrific fighting during the third general assault the Japanese gained positions which insure their ability to enter the main east forts whenever they choose.

A dispatch to a news agency from St. Petersburg says Lieut. Gen. Stoessel, commander of the Russian troops at Port Arthur, is reported to be wounded in the leg.

The Japanese have not occupied the main forts and highest points of the eastern hills of Port Arthur, but they occupy in overwhelming numbers positions which will enable them to drive the Russians back whenever they desire.

May Take a Month.

"The Japanese calculate that if the Russians do not surrender now they will be capable of prolonging the fighting by making their final stand at Liao-Tshan promontory and the Tiger's tail for a month longer, with the mere hope of continuing the struggle. Long before the second Pacific squadron arrives in the Pacific, however," says a dispatch from Chefoo, "the Japanese flag will wave over the wrecked citadel."

Significant of Port Arthur's plight from the Russian standpoint comes a message from a war correspondent with Gen. Nogai's besieging army. One of his dispatches was sent directly from Port Arthur Nov. 2 by way of Chefoo Nov. 3. It reads as follows:

Howitzers Command Positions.

"The Japanese are now in a position to commence the beginning of the end of the operations to capture the eastern fortified ridges. Their siege park has been completed by the placing of 11-inch howitzers. During the night of Oct. 29 all the reserves advanced through a network of trenches in front of the eastern fortified ridges from south of Keekwan to west of Keekwan and to the west of Rihlung mountain, called by the Japanese Shochowan."

Rihlung Mountain is Taken.

Dispatches from Chefoo say that

FLAG TRAIN TO SEIZE ROBBERS

Ohio Officers Capture Four Men Who Looted a Postoffice.

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 4.—"Pop" Shipman and Will Murphy of Martin's Ferry, both notorious crooks; Clyde Hawley of Bellaire and James McLaughlin of Niles, O., were arrested at Barton, O., eight miles west of here, by the Bridgeport, O., police, headed by Mayor Jenkins and Chief of Police Thompson. The police flagged the Cleveland express train and after a desperate battle in which all exchanged shots the robbers were taken and landed in the county jail at St. Clairsville. The officers had been notified of the men's coming by police at Uhrichsville, O., where the bandits robbed a postoffice. Some of the stolen goods, about a pint of nitroglycerin and a full kit of burglar tools were taken from the prisoners.

Better to Accept Them.

The ways of woman and Providence are past understanding.

Japanese arriving there from Dalny report that the Japanese have captured Rihlung mountain and Sungshu mountain, which lies between the railroad and Rihlung mountain. They also report that the Japanese have captured the East Keekwan mountain. Conservative Japanese, realizing the intense desire of the Japanese for good news on the emperor's birthday, received the reports, however, with reserve.

Regarding the capture of Rihlung and Sungshu mountains the report was not considered improbable, but Japanese at Chefoo said it was not intended to occupy East Keekwan mountain.

Keekwan Mountain Hard to Hold. In August the Japanese succeeded in entering the East Keekwan fort, but under the concentrated fire of other forts they were compelled to retire. It was impossible to hold East Keekwan, and therefore an attempt on that position now is regarded as only a feint.

When the Japanese occupied the Russian trenches on Rihlung mountain it is said the Russians turned a current of water into the trenches, but that the Japanese held fast. Previous to this the Japanese shells exploded two land mines on Rihlung mountain.

The Daily Telegraph's Chefoo correspondent, telegraphing Nov. 3, says the Japanese losses during the last assault on Port Arthur were heavier than in any of the previous attacks. The bombardment, he says, was so fierce that the streets of Dalny were said to tremble as though from an earthquake. The same paper's correspondent with Gen. Oku, under date of Nov. 2, says that the indications are that a terrific engagement is about to commence.

Russia Still Has Hope.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 4.—There is a scarcely veiled feeling of relief throughout St. Petersburg that the day has passed without bringing news of the fall of Port Arthur. There had been considerable fear that the Japanese might push home the final attack yesterday. It is now felt that there may have come another period of respite.

The authorities state that they are without direct news from Port Arthur, and every one is depending on foreign sources for tidings of the devoted garrison. Nothing of importance has developed in the region of Mukden.

The Jeffris Meeting

The Jeffris meeting Monday night promises to be a storm-wind. From all parts of the county voters have written that they expect to attend. It will be the last blast before election and a fitting wind-up for the great campaign that has ever been waged in the state. Wherever Mr. Jeffris has gone he has had large audiences. He has spoken to overflow meetings and regular meetings. The view, his own personal one, in which same night. He is forceful and as he attacked Senator Whitehead and able speaker and will be at his best all who opposed him; in which he on Monday.

Everyone should attend the meetings. Every voter should be willing to hear both sides of an argument. Governor La Follette presented one meetings and regular meetings. The view, his own personal one, in which same night. He is forceful and as he attacked Senator Whitehead and able speaker and will be at his best all who opposed him; in which he on Monday.

It remained for Willet M. Spooner of Milwaukee, in an address at Phillips Wednesday evening, to call public attention to a provision of the proposed primary election statute which is undoubtedly the worst of the many vicious features of that bad measure.

Mr. Spooner cited subsections 3, 4 and 5 of section 5 of the statute which provide in substance that signers of nomination papers shall declare their intention to vote for the candidate named therein and that each of such papers shall have appended to it the affidavit of a qualified elector in which he makes oath that he is personally acquainted with all of the signers; that they are qualified electors of the precinct or county in which the candidate resides; that they signed the paper with a full knowledge of its contents; and that he, the affiant, intends to support the candidate named in the paper.

With this as his text Mr. Spooner proceeded to show that under these provisions coercion and intimidation would become an easy matter with employers of labor.

No intelligent man will be slow to see the truth and force of Mr. Spooner's contention.

The law would compel every employer either to put himself publicly on record as to whom he intended to vote for, or else give up that part of his right of franchise pertaining to the nomination of primary candidates.

It would give the employer a means of determining just how the voters on his payroll stood in primary contests.

It would force the laboring man to show his hand in every primary campaign and rob him of one of the priceless things which are his as an American citizen—namely: A secret caucus ballot.

It would be a standing temptation to every narrow-gauged employer or labor boss to bring the screws down effectively on the men under him.

It would be a veritable snare for the employers of labor who were minded to control the votes of their employees. The laboring man would find himself in a trap from which there would be no escape short of betrayal of his written pledge on record at the town, city or county clerk's office.

The opportunity to participate in all formal proceedings preliminary to the nomination of party candidates is as much a part of the right of franchise as the privilege of casting a ballot at the polls on election day.

By forcing voters to disclose their preference among prospective candidates on pain of being debarred from the exercise of any part of the franchise right the proposed law violates one of the fundamental principles of representative government.

Does the laboring man want such a law? Is he anxious to vote away his right to a secret caucus ballot? Does he want to make it not only possible but easy for political bosses to "get a line on him" every time a primary contest is on?

It is for him to say next Tuesday.

Yale Ought To Defeat Princeton

The New Haven Team Is the Stronger on a Form Comparison. Why Hogan Wants to Win--Foulke's Best Men.

By FREDERICK R. TOOMBS.

Yale and Princeton are now ready for their annual gridiron contest. This season the two old time rivals in almost all branches of athletics will settle their football supremacy at Princeton. Last year Captain De Witt's team journeyed to New Haven and defeated the Elis in a heart-breaking struggle. Is Mr. Yale looking for revenge? Well, rather.

Yale's Strong Lineup.

Yale's lineup is remarkably strong. On paper it looks up more impressive by than that of Princeton. But who would dare predict the result of a Yale-Princeton game?

Yale sends into battle against the Jerseymen the leading members of last season's strong, weighty and fast eleven. Princeton has lost her best players of 1903, but is optimistic, as all Nassau Hall teams are on the eve of a big contest.

Hogan's One Ambition.

Captain Hogan of Yale is particularly anxious to defeat Captain Foulke's warriors.

Hogan performed a giant's work in plant, who will defend Yale's left end Rockwell, who will run the team from the quarterback's position; the ponderous Horback at center, the sensational Bloomer at left tackle, the powerful Kinney at left guard, the speedy Morse at right half, the dashing Owsley at fullback, Hoyt or Veeber at left half, Tripp at right guard and Neel at right end. Hogan, of course, will cover right tackle.

When the personnel of the two teams is compared, man to man, Yale's advantage is very evident. Although Cooney at center is superior to Horback, Foulke at right half is superior to Morse of Yale, and McCormick of Princeton is equal to Owsley, the remaining members of Yale's eleven outclass those of Princeton.

The betting should be 5 to 4 in favor of Yale. If the game is decided on a strictly form basis Yale will win.

Torney a Star.

Torney, fullback of the West Point eleven, should be awarded a place on the all America's team. His sensational work this season has placed him at the top of the list of players in his position.

His work it was that won the West Point-Yale game for the soldiers. His 105 yard run for a touchdown was a remarkable exploit against a seasoned team like that of the New Haven university.

The Scoring System.

The scoring system has been in process of evolution for more than twenty years. The modern method of scoring points was crystallized from the old English system in 1883, when a goal from a touchdown was counted as six points, a goal from the field five points, a touchdown two points and a safety one point. This was amended in the following year so that a touchdown counted four points and a safety two points—a basis of value which was continued without further change for several years. Opposition to the large importance placed on the goal from a touchdown developed, and it was frequently emphasized by victories won by this kind of margin in which the prowess of one team overmatched the united ability of the opposition team to score. Therefore the next step was to reduce the value of the goal from touchdown to one point, and this has continued to date.

Meanwhile the value of five points given the goal from the field became a leading topic of agitation. On the one hand, its defenders said that such spectacular and skillful play should be encouraged and that it was not a "one man performance," for the whole team must block and hold to enable the drop kick artist to do his turn with success. The advocates of the smaller scoring value said that the field goal should not be on a scoring level with the touchdown and goal, wrought out in the fiery furnace of team tactics over every inch of the long road to the goal line. This year the committee has yielded to the adverse pressure, and the value of the field goal has been reduced.

The Penalty Clauses.

The rules committee has done considerable tinkering with the penalty clauses for the purpose of making the game cleaner and more sportsmanlike in many minor ways. One of the provisions made necessary by tactics used by one of the smaller colleges against Harvard last year shows that while the legislators are trying to devise ways and means to block all loopholes, the players are sitting up nights finding legitimate dodges to get around them. This new rule says that:

If a team on the defense commits fouls so near their goal line that these fouls are punishable only by halving the distance to the line, the object being, in the opinion of the referee, to delay the game, the referee shall allow the game to proceed. The referee shall in such cases warn the offending side, and if the offense is repeated he shall declare the game forfeited to the opponents.

Making the Game Cleaner.

New penalties of five yards are given for a long line of offenses, most of which come under the head of delay, interference with play and unsportsmanlike conduct. The efforts to make the game clean and free from unnecessary roughness absorb the larger part of the attention and study of the rulemakers, and year by year the tone of the game is improving in spirit and letter.

Friendship.

THE ROOT OF THE MATTER

He Cured Himself of Serious Stomach Trouble, by Getting Down to First Principles.

A man of large affairs in one of our prominent eastern cities by too close attention to business, too little exercise and too many club dinners, finally began to pay nature's tax, levied in the form of chronic stomach trouble; the failure of his digestion brought about a nervous irritability making it impossible to apply himself to his daily business and finally deranging the kidneys and heart.

In his own words he says: "I consulted one physician after another and each one seemed to understand my case, but all the same they each failed to ring about the return of my former digestion, appetite and vigor. For two years I went from pillar to post, from one sanitarium to another. I gave up smoking, I quit coffee and even renounced my daily glass or two of beer, but without any marked improvement.

"Friends had often advised me to try a well-known proprietary medicine, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I had often perused the newspaper advertisements of the remedy, but never took any stock in advertised medicines nor could believe a fifty-cent patent medicine would touch my case.

"To make a long story short I finally bought a couple of packages at the nearest drugstore and took two or three tablets after each meal, and occasionally a tablet between meals, when I felt any feeling of nausea or discomfort.

"I was surprised at the end of the first week to note a marked improvement in my appetite and general health and before the two packages were gone I was certain that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets was going to cure completely and they did not disappoint me. I can eat and sleep and enjoy my coffee and clear and no one would suppose I had ever known the horrors of dyspepsia.

"Out of friendly curiosity I wrote to the proprietor of the remedy asking for information as to what the tablets contained and they replied that the principal ingredients were aseptic pepsin (government test), malt diastase and other natural digestives, which digest food regardless of the condition of the stomach."

The root of the matter is this, the digestive elements contained in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest the food, give the overworked stomach a chance to recuperate and the nerves and whole system receive the nourishment which can only come from food; stimulants and nerve tonics never give real strength, they give a fictitious strength, invariably followed by reaction. Every drop of blood, every nerve and tissue is manufactured from our daily food, and if you can insure its prompt action and complete digestion by the regular use of so good and wholesome a remedy as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, you will have no need of nerve tonics and sanitariums.

Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been in the market only a few years yet probably every druggist in the United States, Canada and Great Britain now sells them, and considers them the most popular and successful of any preparation for stomach trouble.

RIOTERS MUST SERVE

FULL TIME IN PRISON

Danville Men Are to Be Kept in the Penitentiary for Maximum Term Under the Law.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 4.—The board of pardons has passed finally upon the cases of the Danville rioters, and decided to hold them as long as the law will permit, which will be five years.

In speaking of the decision, Chairman Russell of the board said that the board felt it to be its duty to visit upon these men as severe punishment as the law would permit.

"One of the objects of the trial and conviction of men who violate the law is to deter others from like violations," he said, "and as this is the first instance on record in the state where men participating in a mob of this character have been convicted, the board felt that the severest punishment known to the law should be dealt out to them, so that others who might feel like engaging in similar conduct would understand fully what they might expect upon conviction."

The men affected are Winfield Baker, William Redwine, Horace Murphy, John Isom, John Walton, Isaac M. Slade, John Robertson and Clements Mowbraker.

The maximum time of sentence for the offense committed by the Danville rioters is fixed by statute at five years. The indeterminate sentence law gives the pardon board authority to determine when within that period the prisoners may be released.

THE ROOT OF THE MATTER

He Cured Himself of Serious Stomach Trouble, by Getting Down to First Principles.

A man of large affairs in one of our prominent eastern cities by too close attention to business, too little exercise and too many club dinners, finally began to pay nature's tax, levied in the form of chronic stomach trouble; the failure of his digestion brought about a nervous irritability making it impossible to apply himself to his daily business and finally deranging the kidneys and heart.

In his own words he says: "I consulted one physician after another and each one seemed to understand my case, but all the same they each failed to ring about the return of my former digestion, appetite and vigor. For two years I went from pillar to post, from one sanitarium to another. I gave up smoking, I quit coffee and even renounced my daily glass or two of beer, but without any marked improvement.

"Friends had often advised me to try a well-known proprietary medicine, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I had often perused the newspaper advertisements of the remedy, but never took any stock in advertised medicines nor could believe a fifty-cent patent medicine would touch my case.

"To make a long story short I finally bought a couple of packages at the nearest drugstore and took two or three tablets after each meal, and occasionally a tablet between meals, when I felt any feeling of nausea or discomfort.

"I was surprised at the end of the first week to note a marked improvement in my appetite and general health and before the two packages were gone I was certain that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets was going to cure completely and they did not disappoint me. I can eat and sleep and enjoy my coffee and clear and no one would suppose I had ever known the horrors of dyspepsia.

"Out of friendly curiosity I wrote to the proprietor of the remedy asking for information as to what the tablets contained and they replied that the principal ingredients were aseptic pepsin (government test), malt diastase and other natural digestives, which digest food regardless of the condition of the stomach."

The root of the matter is this, the digestive elements contained in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest the food, give the overworked stomach a chance to recuperate and the nerves and whole system receive the nourishment which can only come from food; stimulants and nerve tonics never give real strength, they give a fictitious strength, invariably followed by reaction. Every drop of blood, every nerve and tissue is manufactured from our daily food, and if you can insure its prompt action and complete digestion by the regular use of so good and wholesome a remedy as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, you will have no need of nerve tonics and sanitariums.

Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been in the market only a few years yet probably every druggist in the United States, Canada and Great Britain now sells them, and considers them the most popular and successful of any preparation for stomach trouble.

REPUBLICANS RELEASED FROM PARTY ALLEGIANCE.

In his speech last night and also in the speech he delivered at Janesville Monday night, Gov. La Follette attacked Senator Whitehead shamelessly. By inference, and by associating his name with a member of the legislature against whom a criminal charge has been brought, he impugned Senator Whitehead's honesty and his integrity as a legislator. He insulted Senator Whitehead, and through him every republican who was instrumental in Senator Whitehead's re-nomination. The head of the state republican ticket by virtue of a law on the statute book and a personal state committee and not by virtue of a legal and honest majority of the republican state convention, he comes into Rock county and belittles the character of a man who is able a man as Wisconsin possesses, and seeks to defeat the man in whose integrity, both private and public, every citizen of Rock county, irrespective of party, has implicit confidence. And why? Because Senator Whitehead does his own thinking. Because Senator Whitehead stands for and defends the interests of his constituents and the principles of the republican party, instead of being the subservient tool of a man or set of men who are playing upon the selfish interests and prejudices of persons to serve their personal ambitions and to secure their personal advancement and personal aggrandizement.

No man in Rock county can point to a single public act of Senator Whitehead which does not recommend him to the confidence of every honest republican in Rock county, and no man can impugn the honesty of purpose of Senator Whitehead who is himself a republican. Whoever does so impugn the character of Senator Whitehead has no claim upon the republicans of Rock county for their support, and should not receive it. The large majority of the republicans of Rock county again selected Mr. Whitehead for their representative in the legislature after a service of eight years in that body. They selected him deliberately and with a full knowledge of his record, and whoever attacks his personality and public record attacks those who selected him, and is a political enemy of both—not only of him and them but of the political principles which the Senator and his constituents advocate and champion. He was nominated by recan, and whoever seeks to defeat him is an enemy of republicanism and as such should be treated by republican voters.

When Governor La Follette comes into Rock county and advises and entreats republicans to vote against republican nominees and vote for their democratic opponents he releases every republican from their party allegiance to him at the polls, and every self-respecting, conscientious republican will consider himself absolved from such allegiance at the coming election.

The Deloit Free Press thus handles the situation, and the sentiments expressed will be endorsed by republicans throughout the county.

GAME IN MICHIGAN.

Wisconsin boasts of her game laws and the governor is proud of the fact that the $90,000 a year, paid to his army of game wardens, is not a tax but simply a donation from a class of good natured voters. It will be of interest to sporting men to read the following letter from Professor George Bruce, formerly at the head of the manual training department of the public schools. Michigan appears to have plenty of game and is evidently not taxed of death to support game wardens.

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 1, 1904.
Mr. H. F. Bliss, Janesville, Wis.
Dear Mr. Bliss: I enclose $1.50 for the weekly Gazette. I find I cannot get along without it to keep us informed about our friends. I wish you had been up here with me this summer; I often thought of you while I was out on my fishing trips; such trout fishing I never heard of before; I caught over 300 brook trout this summer, ranging all the way from 8 inches for the smallest up to two and a half pounds for the largest; I took 60 lbs. of trout out of one hole in an abandoned beaver dam in five trips.

And now the deer season is just beginning and I am going out every Saturday for venison; the deer are so thick here that you don't have to go way out in the woods for them. In a half hour's walk from town you are likely to run on to them in the woods. I have been hunting partridges for the past month and they are fine eating.

Can't you and your wife run up here for a few days during the season? We can take care of all the Janesville people that will come, and I can promise you some meat if you come; the season opens on election day and continues the rest of the month. You can get three licenses for 75c, but cannot ship the meat out of the state. Very truly,
GEO. M. BRUCE.

WHAT MORE IS NEEDED?

If any doubt exists in the minds of republicans as to the governor's disloyalty, that doubt is being rapidly removed. Never before in the history of this, or any other state, has its chief executive devoted a campaign to tearing down the party which has honored him.

In his speeches at Deloit and in Walworth county he advised republicans to disregard party lines and vote for what he termed principles. Strange advice from a man who claims to be a republican.

The "principles" to which he refers, are theories which he proposes to foist on the state, and they are the most dangerous theories with which the state was ever confronted. His primary law theory, in practice, means a free-for-all scramble for office, and the man who wins will be the men with the largest purse.

It means death to parties and a free rein to ambitious and unscrupulous politicians.

His long distance tariff theory means destruction to the industries of the state.

It means the abolishment of commodity rates, which have made the state prosperous, and the substitution of rates which no manufacturer can pay and live.

He points with pride to the state of Iowa. What is Iowa today? Simply a great cornfield. What would the state have been under proper legislation? The same cornfield with millions of dollars invested in industries all over the state.

Wisconsin can't raise corn to any large extent, and deprive the state of its industries, and it will go back 50 years at a single stride.

These are some of the reasons why conservative men of all parties are opposing the governor and inasmuch as that official has thrown down the gauntlet and advised voters to ignore party lines in supporting him, there is no longer reason why any republican who does his own thinking should not vote against him in the interests of public welfare.

Take the governor's advice and split your ticket. A vote for Peck is a full vote against La Folletteism. The state has had enough of it.

Senator Whitehead will speak in his own defense at the Opera House tomorrow night. He is able to give a reason for the faith that is in him, and he enjoys the confidence of his constituency in rare degree. He will have a good audience.

taken. The republicanism of Walworth county is rock ribbed and La Folletteism has never gained a foothold.

If the general fund of the state owes the trust fund, that is a liability, as the people will discover when called on to pay it. Changing pockets with money never increases the amount.

Representative government according to La Follette means a government without parties and the result would be chaos.

The national committee have acted wisely in keeping national speakers out of the state. Speaker Cannon's reception was a revelation.

Judge Parker may be a great jurist, but as a party leader he is proving himself a monumental failure. His silence was at first oppressive, but his public utterances are demoralizing to the party.

Try the voting machine before election day. You will find it as simple as A. B. C.

Senator Spooner has again taken the stump and will speak at the exposition building in Milwaukee Saturday night.

FOOTBALL GAME COMES TOMORROW

BELOIT AND UNIVERSITY MEET AT MADISON SATURDAY.

KILPATRICK IS TO LEAVE

The Graduate Manager Is To Leave the University for Other Business.

Wisconsin meets Beloit on the gridiron Saturday, but the contest is contemplated merely as one of the practice scrimmages of minor importance, so far have the students of the Line City Congregational college fallen in the scale of football. Up to a few years ago Beloit had large prestige in athletics and the Beloit-Wisconsin game was an annual struggle of as much uncertainty as the games with Minnesota or Chicago. Eight years ago at Beloit, Wisconsin was actually defeated and low scores were the usual result in the yearly contest with this little college team for a long time. But Beloit has only 200 or 300 students for the course of athletic material and has not been able to keep up the pace of the larger institutions. Wisconsin will use the game as important training for the Minnesota game at Minneapolis a week later and several changes will be made in the Badger team from the arrangement of the Michigan game. The probable lineup of Wisconsin against Beloit is as follows:

Satisfaction is expressed on account of the selection of officials for the Wisconsin-Minnesota game. Ralph Hamill of Chicago, selected by the Gophers, has been agreed upon as referee. Clyde Williams of Iowa is to be head linesman and it is expected the Minnesota will agree to Lieut. Hackett of Fort Sheridan as umpire.

Charles H. Kilpatrick last night tendered his resignation as graduate manager of Wisconsin university athletics and coach of the university track team, the resignation to take effect January 1. Mr. Kilpatrick leaves Madison to assume a position as distributor with the Spaulding Athletic Goods Co., of Chicago, with headquarters at the wholesale house of the firm in Chicago.

Simultaneous with the resignation of Manager Kilpatrick there appear several men who are "available" for the managerial position. Perhaps the most probable of these is George F. Downer, a graduate with the class of 1897, editor of the Wisconsin Alumni magazine and secretary of the Alumni association. Richard Kemp, center rush on the football eleven, has friends who have suggested him for the place. F. Mather, formerly a member of the crew and a newspaper writer during his college career, is spoken of with great approval. It is said that Andrew M. O'Dea, for years coach of the varsity oarsmen and trainer of the football team, would accept the position. None of these are avowed candidates, however.

The resignation of Mr. Kilpatrick was a surprise to the extent that it was not expected so soon. He has told his friends, however, for the last three weeks or more, that he would not long continue as graduate manager. It is known that much adverse criticism has been passed upon the management of Mr. Kilpatrick and however undesired this may have been it was, nevertheless, painful to him and this fact is understood to have influenced his mind when the attractive offer came from the Chicago firm. Mr. Kilpatrick accompanied his resignation last night before the board of directors of the athletic association with an oral statement expressing his regret at the necessity of leaving his present position for one which appeared to him to be one of more permanence and larger material opportunity. He said that he had endeavored to his utmost capacity in every situation to do the best for the university and that in departing his sympathy and loyalty would always remain with the cardinal.

The resignation was not accepted immediately, but was referred to a committee consisting of Prof. O. B. Zimmerman, Richard Kemp and Wilson Bertie. This committee will present the resignation to the board at the next meeting and to the athletic council after it is accepted by the board. It is expected that a resolution will be adopted expressing the board's appreciation of the services of Mr. Kilpatrick.

The graduate manager who now resigns has been at the University of Wisconsin for five years. He was brought to Madison by Manager John L. Fisher as coach of the track team and was later elected as graduate manager. He attended Phillips Andover and Union colleges and later Princeton university. He made a great record as a half-mile runner in college and was taken to England eight years ago and defeated all the crack English runners, establishing a new world's record of one minute and 53 seconds for the half-mile, which mark still stands to his credit.

Francis Adams died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Nelson Cole, at 12:30 today. His death was due to the infirmities of old age. The deceased was born in Lyman, Grafton county, New Hampshire, March 24, 1816. He came to this county from Ohio in 1857 and settled in Johnson town where he lived for many years. In 1882 he moved to a farm in Milton, living there until 1900 when he came to this city to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Nelson Cole. His wife died twelve years ago. This coach is trimmed in a fine quality of light broadcloth, with light satin roof. The body is black, with Brewster green trimmings, striped with gold, and with silver mountings. The alderman thinks he has the finest and latest carriage in the city, and he believes his friends and patrons will agree with him in this.

Jury Recognizes Merit

A telegram was received today by D. J. Luby, from John Hannan, mother of the firm of Hannan & Son, New York. It he said:

"The World's Fair Jury of Awards has honored the Hannan shoe with the Grand Prize (highest possible award) for excellency in workmanship, quality and style. In this connection it should be stated that Hannan & Son captured first awards at Buffalo in 1902, Paris in 1900, Chicago in 1893, and at Philadelphia in 1876."

So far as known only one of those naturalized is a La Follette man and the one is only a "chance shot," not having definitely declared himself. In Dane county 416 have taken out their papers this fall.

THE NEW DE FOREST LEAF WAREHOUSE

In Fourth Ward Is Rapidly Nearing Completion—Roof Being Put On and Railway Siding Laid.

Workmen today are placing the roof on J. T. DeForest's new tobacco warehouse, located near the Robinson brewery. The structure, which is to be completed by December 1, is two stories high and covers an area of 108 by 48 feet. Its exterior is of rock-face shingle iron. The interior contains a sorting room for sixty hands, elevators, and an equipment that is modern in every respect. The capacity is from 3,500 to 4,000 cases, and it will be a large improvement on the old Green warehouse on Mineral Point avenue, where Mr. DeForest has hitherto conducted his business, meeting with a success which has warranted him in going ahead with the new venture. J. G. Wray has been superintending the construction work. The North-Western railroad is putting in a 300 foot siding today.

MONEY EQUIVALENT FOR BOARD DESIRED

Former Day Clerk of Myers Hotel Brings Action Against Proprietors—Counter Claims Filed.

Hearing of the evidence and arguments in the action of H. B. Angle vs. H. C. Donnelly and Anna McNeil were concluded in Justice Earle's court this morning. The plaintiff, now resident of Chicago, was formerly day clerk at the Myers hotel. He was to receive $50 a month and board for himself and wife from the time the hotel opened, which was May 12. It appears that he expected to go to work May 1 and was ready to do so. Landford Donnelly agreed to pay him his salary from that date and as far as is shown in the evidence fulfilled his agreement. Angle relinquished his position on July 9. He has now brought an action to recover the money equivalent for the board of himself and wife from May 1 to May 12, fixing the sum at $36. The defendants have filed counter-claims for cigars amounting to $29, a bar bill amounting to $3.60, and alleged cash shortages amounting to $11.14. Edward Ryan appeared for the plaintiff and William G. Wheeler for the defense. Mr. Angle's deposition was taken in Chicago and that of Mrs. McNeil in Ashland, where she is now visiting.

OBJECT TO RAISE IN THEIR RATES

Maccabees of the World Rise in Revolt Against Action of Head Lodge.

In several cities an open rebellion has been declared against the proposed raise in the rates of the Maccabees of the World. This action was taken at the meeting of the supreme tent at Port Huron, Mich., last summer. The bill in question will come into force Jan. 1. It affects at present the older members of the order, but it is said that it will catch them all in time, and that it will be the cause of the loss of a very large portion of the membership. New York, Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania and other states have already voted their strong disapproval of what they consider an arbitrary table of rates.

The sponsors for the bill claimed that it was passed looking to the welfare of the society of the future and insuring the payment of all obligations. In some of the cities the members are inclined to abide by the ruling of the supreme tent, and in others there is some disapproval but it has not reached proportions of opposition. Twenty-five lodges in Chicago have taken the matter in hand and have extended invitations to other lodges to send delegates to a mass meeting of the lodges of the United States to be held in Chicago Oct. 31 for the purpose of crystallizing the sentiment against the new bill.

BALMY WEATHER CREATES PICNICS

Two Parties Are Enjoying the Day Up the River This Afternoon.

Balmy spring days the first week in November are unknown in Wisconsin. To celebrate the event two parties are this afternoon picnicking up the river. George S. Parker took one party of ladies consisting of Mesdames Spooner, Parker, Sherer, Merrill, Banck, Palmer, Edwards, and Tarrant to Pratt's quarry in his automobile. The ladies were shirt-waisted and the gay party looked more like a spring gathering than a fall picnic. George McKee is the host of another party who are enjoying the day up the river. They left this morning but have assured their friends they will return before dark and that Victor Richardson is not to steer the boat. It will be remembered that on a recent trip they were around for several hours on a mud bank.

LAI DOWN THEIR TOOLS THIS NOON

Italian Laborers in the Sewer Ditch Want Their Pay and Then Go Home.

The Italian laborers who have been employed in the sewer ditches the last few weeks this noon laid down their picks and shovels and demanded their pay. This was refused them until payday. The reason given for the trouble is that several this morning received letters from their homes in Chicago stating that employment could be found there now. Some were in favor of leaving and others of staying but as the whole number came here together they left en masse. Some lately stated that they would return tomorrow. They had wages from the first of the week due them which will not be paid until a week from next Wednesday.

Visiting Knights Attended: The meeting of Carroll Council No. 596 of the Knights of Columbus last evening was attended by several visiting Knights from Beloit. In the number were John E. Burns, democratic candidate for county clerk, Patrick Meehan, and Dr. Carey.

GIRL'S BODY IS FOUND AT GATE TO CEMETERY

Bloody Trail From Car Tracks Is Strewed with Victim's Teeth, Indicating Desperate Struggle.

Cincinnati, Nov. 4.—The body of Alma Steinway, telephone operator, was found in a vacant lot near the entrance to Spring Grove cemetery with marks that indicate murder. A trail of blood from the street car track suggested that the girl had been struck by a car. Her injuries were all about the head. The condition of her clothing indicated a desperate struggle, but no clue to the manner of her death has been found.

Later developments, however, leave no doubt about the girl being most brutally murdered. She was exceptionally attractive and highly respectable. She left the Cumminsville telephone exchange shortly after 9 o'clock at night and her transfer to Winton place was punched at 9:40. It is believed that some one waylaid her in the suburbs or possibly followed her from the car, as she had some distance to walk to her home after alighting, assaulted her and dragged her body into the vacant lot adjoining Spring Grove cemetery.

There was found a blood trail from the lot to the street car tracks and every indication of a desperate struggle. Her teeth were scattered along the trail, as well as her hat and other parts of clothing. She was cut over the temple, her skull crushed and jaws broken. While there are male footprints in the trail, there is no clue to the murderer.

The Yellow Holly

By FERGUS HUME,
Author of "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab," Etc.

Copyright, 1903, by G. W. Dillingham Company

"I know. She explained. But she was the cause. I was right to kill her. But for her Percy would have been alive. I would have been his wife, and you, George, would have been my stepson."

"What did you do next?"
"I went up to my room and resumed my game of patience. I intended to have a talk with Mrs. Jersey the next morning, but when I found that she had struck Margery I came down at once."

Seated at the very table where her victim had sat.

"That was after 11?"
"About a quarter past, Mrs. Jersey was in her room. We talked, and I told her what I had heard. She denied it. I pointed to the stiletto which was on the table as a proof that the girl had been here. Mrs. Jersey said that it was the same stiletto with which Percy had been killed, as Lola had received it from her mother. That put the thought into my head that God intended Mrs. Jersey should be slain with the same weapon with which my darling had been stabbed."

"I accused Mrs. Jersey of having killed Percy. She glared in the fact that it was through her hand that he died. She declared that if Ireland had not held her hand she would have laid him dead at her feet. She exulted that the fiend had fulfilled her intention and taunted me with the fact that I never became his wife. I was very quiet," added Miss Bull, her eyes glittering, "but my blood was boiling. Mrs. Jersey turned her back on me, with an insolent laugh, and sat down. The stiletto was on the table. Her head was turned away. I softly took the dagger and—"

Miss Bull rose. "George, you now know all. Go! No, do not shake hands. I have avenged my father, and I expect I will be hanged."

Margery burst into renewed weeping, at Miss Bull soothed her, talking to George the while. "Tell my sister," she said, "that the name of Howard will not be mentioned. I will die under my false name. No disgrace will be brought on her. As to Dorothy,"—here Miss Bull's eyes grew tender—"no disgrace will befall her. Marry her, George; love her, make her a good husband and take this kiss to her from a sorely tried woman."

Before the astonished George knew what she was about he felt a pair of cold lips pressed to his own. The next moment she had pushed him out of the room and had locked the door. That was the last George saw of her.

Whether Margery had agreed to die with her or whether Miss Bull knew, ing what a miserable life the girl would lead after her death, compelled her to take the poison will never be known, but when the door was burst open the two women were found on the floor in one another's arms. On the table was an empty glass, and it was ascertained that Miss Bull and Margery had taken prussic acid. Dawdsey entered the room an hour after the death, alarmed by the silence. He found that his prey had escaped. Miss Bull was buried under her false name, and Margery was buried with her. Nothing of Miss Bull's past or of her killing of Mrs. Jersey came to light.

Six months later George Vane was seated in the library of the mansion in St. Giles square. It was after dinner, and Lord Derrington occupied his usual chair. The old man looked brighter and happier than he had looked for many years. Daily George grew a greater favorite with him, and on the morning George was to be married, Lord Derrington had insisted that as it was his last night as a bachelor George should dine alone with him and would not admit even Walter. "It's the last time I'll have you all to myself, George," said the old man piteously. "After tomorrow Dorothy will possess you."

"Not at all," replied George, "you will have us both. We will come back from the honeymoon in a month, and then we will live here. A lady in the house will make a lot of difference. You won't know this place when Dorothy is flitting about."

"Don't! Her mother is the kind of woman who kills."

"Oh, I don't think we'll be troubled much with Mrs. Ward. Since the shock inflicted by her sister's sad death she has become religious."

"Bah! That's only a phrase. Poor Miss Bull!" said Derrington. "I like to think of her under that name. She had a sad life. I don't wonder she killed herself. Do you think she was mad, George?"

"No. But I think the memory of her wrongs, which were all caused by Mrs. Jersey, was too much for her. She was mad for the moment, but she told me the terrible story in the calmest manner."

"And who came in at the front door that night?" asked Derrington.

"No one. After the murder Miss Bull opened it to fly—panic struck, I expect—but Margery came downstairs and stopped her. Miss Bull closed the door and remained to face the worst."

"Well, she is dead and buried, and the scandal is laid at rest, unless that Dawdsey revives it."

"Oh, you can trust Dawdsey," said George, smiling. "He and Lola are quite happy, and she has almost forgotten me. I got a letter from Dawdsey the other day. He is acting as his wife's agent, and they are making a lot of money."

"All the better. He won't talk about that business. By the way, I forgot to ask you about Ireland's money?"

"The money he left to me? I have settled that on Dorothy. How suddenly he died!" said George reflectively; "just an hour after I left the house."

"Well, five thousand a year is not to be despised. Have you settled it all on Dorothy?"

"Every penny. Don't you approve?"

"Oh, yes, so long as Mrs. Ward doesn't get it."

"You can depend upon that, sir. But Dorothy will have it—Dorothy, whom I shall see tomorrow crowned with orange blossoms, and—"

Derrington laughed, but not unkindly. "Well, well. Better orange blossoms than yellow holly."

George nodded. "I hope never to see yellow holly again," he said, and Derrington agreed. So their conversation ended on the threshold of George's new life with that last reference to the old.

WERE UNITED IN MARRIAGE IN ROCKFORD WEDNESDAY.

Miss Lillie Ellis, of Footville, and Mr. Frank A. Hatton, of Hanover, United.

In the city of Rockford Wednesday County Judge Bailey pronounced the ceremony that united in marriage Miss Lillie Ellis and Frank A. Hatton, of Hanover. The young couple returned home in the afternoon. Each is prominent and popular in the social circles of the county and scores of friends wish them continual happiness in their future.

DEMOCRATIC ANARCHIST

Secondary Utterances of an Alabama Congressman.

If Democracy has returned to "sanctity," as Grover Cleveland asserts, it is certain the party has not yet purged itself of something even worse than insanity. Anarchists are a greater curse to any community than lunatics, for lunatics are often harmless to society; but anarchists, by their words and deeds, are always a menace. Take the case of Congressman J. T. Hedlin, for instance. He is an Alabamian with a month more dangerous than a dozen Czolgoszes. The assassin of President McKinley did not openly preach anarchy before carrying out his purpose and thereby invite others to slay public men. Hedlin is more cowardly. In a recent speech at Tuskegee, Ala., the home of Booker T. Washington and the negro school conducted by him, Hedlin said:

"There they sat, Roosevelt and Booker, and if Czolgosz or one of his kind had thrown a bomb under the table no great harm would have been done to the country."

Of the report that Booker Washington was going to help to beat him for election to congress, Hedlin said:

"If Booker takes a hand in this thing it will be one time I will ask him to step out. I will ask him to hands off, and you know we have a way of influencing negroes down here."

Hedlin, who succeeded Congressman Thompson, had a fight with his Republican opponent, Captain B. W. Walker, on Sunday. Smiling under this, he attacked Walker directly in his speech. He described him as "a black and tan serpent biding at the feet of honest, upright Democrats."

He said it was the desire of the Republicans to have Walker sent to congress so they could say: "Here's a friend of Booker Washington and it shows how he is looked upon down there and how the people uphold him."

"If Parker is elected president," he said, "and Booker Washington goes to Washington, you will find him eating in the kitchen instead of the dining room."

Hedlin said he refused to meet Walker in joint debate because that would have recognized him as his equal. He added:

"I do not recognize any black and tan as my equal. I will not lower myself to the level of a black and tan who mingles on equal terms with negroes."

It avails Hedlin nothing to say his bomb talk was intended to be joking. The fact remains that it was incendiary language, such as is made criminal by the anti-anarchist law recently passed by congress. The Democratic party has much to answer for, and unless it muzzles such blatant "nigger" haters as Hedlin it may have more crimes laid at its doors. Hedlin is one of the leaders of the party in the south, and his utterances are an indication that Democracy is, at least, not "safe," even if it is now "sane," as Mr. Cleveland would have the people believe.

"If protection is indeed robbery, and if our opponents really believe what they say, then it is precisely to the destruction and uprooting of the tariff, and therefore of our business and industry, that they are pledged."—Roosevelt's Letter of Acceptance.

Answer to Democratic Contentions.

The national banks of the United States hold in cash today $401,000,000, against $262,000,000 in 1890, and show a total of loans and discounts of $3,700,000,000, against $1,800,000,000 in 1890. These figures show the fallacy of the present Democratic contention that large bank deposits and a cheap loaning rate for money indicate contracting business and a poor demand for money for investment purposes and industrial uses.

The legitimate business demands for money—implying business expansion—are more than double what they were eight years ago. The banks of the country would not be able to meet them, and rates of money would be excessively dear, except for the fact that Republican prosperity has brought about enormous increase in deposits, and the victory of the gold standard in 1890 and again in 1900 has resulted in large accumulations of gold in the United States, which made it safe for the banks, with increased cash reserves, to increase their loans so as not to restrain the rapid business expansion which came with the election of William McKinley.

Confidence.

It's wrong to bet, but lots of men would bet all that there is in their banks.

The winning side is mentioned when you speak of Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

Ben Tillman.

Tillman is still in a state of eruption. "Many enemies" are pronounced upon his utterances by the descendants of the bulldozers and the Ku Klux Klan. The nearer he is to the Gulf of Mexico the more he is appreciated. This same Tillman who, through some night-marish trick of fate, wears the toga of United States senator.

After an exhaustive review of the situation in the Hoosier state, Walter Wellman, the staff correspondent of the Record-Herald, says: "With the Republican ranks virtually solid, with the Democracy bound to lose a few thousands of the Pygmies, with nothing present in the public mind to lead to an upheaval, and with Indiana a Republican state to start with, one does not need to be a seventh son to foresee the result." And he estimates the Republican plurality at "somewhere between 15,000 and 30,000."

A GREAT QUALITY

Roosevelt Quick to Think and Act, but Always Wisely.

President Roosevelt is being attacked as a possible danger to the country because of his alert, quick mind and prompt action. The severest variety of politicians are crying him down on this issue.

It is a common error, the belief that because a man thinks quickly, and acts promptly in an emergency, he is a rash or dangerous individual. To the slow man, one whose mental processes are naturally labored, it is incredible that another mind, differently constituted from his own, may arrive almost instantly at the solution of a question which would occupy the attention of the heavier moving brain for a long time.

Celerity of judgment and action are characteristics of some very great men, though not by any means is this an attribute to them all. Whenever this quality is conspicuous in a man, his critics, friendly and adverse alike, accuse him of rashness. After a long trial such a man often convinces his friends that his instant judgment was well founded, his prompt action well taken. But his enemies never will allow this.

A practical illustration taken from the most commonplace fields of life shows how unfounded is the idea that quick thought and action are dangerous. A horseman, a foot ball player, a locomotive engineer, a woodsman felling a tree, all these at times must instantly grasp a situation, judge accurately as to distances, chances and certainties, and act, with the rapidity of light, upon the mind's direction. "Dispatch is the soul of business." This is the motto of every great manipulator in the field of business and finance. The money-makers decide instantaneously, in a crisis, and he who most quickly thinks, and thinks right, acting boldly upon his own judgment, is the winner. There was never any such thing as a successful fighter who was slow of brain, languid in motion.

It is a great quality, that of being able to think quickly, and think right at the same time. It is said of some horses that they "look over the whole ground." There are men who do the same thing, taking in the entire situation in one comprehensive glance. The born soldier does this. So does the born statesman.

When the ship of state is headed toward the rocks the executive officer must be quick to see and prompt to steer away from the danger. To wait would be fatal. When advantage to the state is waiting, the executive head should be instantly alert to the potentialities of the moment, and competent to act upon the case at once, for opportunity waits for no man. Because, the mass of men are slow
